DRY STRAITS TO BE OPENED SOON

Secretary of War Recommends Expenditure of Two Million Dollars for Opening of Channel.

Washington, March 5, 1917. Chamber of Commerce, Wrangell, Alaska.

Brigadier General Black, chief of the engineers of the War department, through Secretary of War Baker, has transmitted a report on the Dry Straits project recommending an expenditure of $2,000,000 for a channel 200 feet wide and 26 feet deep with a protecting dike 31,100 feet long. The matter has been referred to the Rivers and Harbors Committee of the House of Representatives.

SALVATION ARMY SELF-DENIAL WEEK

(May 12th to 19th)

The Salvation Army has its Self-Denial week to raise money for the carrying on of its vast work throughout the world. People can easily deny themselves of something that will not damage their health, but will lead them to be better spiritually. Christ, the Son of God, denied Himself for us all. He asks us to deny ourselves.

Following are some reasons why the public should help the Army.

Because it gives help, irrespective of creed or nationality.

Because it befriends the criminal classes without pauperizing them.

Because its officers visit the poorest of the poor and give relief.

Because in its Orphanages many fatherless and motherless children are lovingly cared for.

Because its Motors, Ambulances, Tents, and Naval and Military Homes are a help to the Service men.

Because it is the champion of the weak, the defender of the oppressed, the vindicator of the wronged, the savior of the lost.

SEATTLE, May 8.—Ninety-seven Seattle men, including Clay Allen, have been appointed officers reserve corps training camp at Presidio of San Francisco.

Washington, May 8.—The Government is investigating the charges that vessels of the American Transport Company are carrying supplies to German submarines.

BANK OF ALASKA IN NEW HOME

Formal Opening Is Held on First Anniversary of Establishment of Bank in Wrangell. --Was Most Pleasant Event.

The first anniversary of the establishment of the Bank of Alaska at Wrangell was most fittingly celebrated on Tuesday, May 8, by the formal opening of the bank's new concrete home.

A bank was greatly needed in Wrangell at the time the Bank of Alaska was established here. The people are proud of the bank and regard it as a public institution. It was therefore only natural that the formal opening of the new home should have been an event in which the citizens took a keen interest.

Beginning at 8:30 p. m. and lasting for two hours there was a constant stream of visitors. The guests were received by W. H. Warren, vice president, and H. P. C. McCormack, and Mayor F. Matheson, the two latter being advisory directors. Cigars were generously distributed, and delicious fruit punch was served with wafers. Neil Grant presided at the punch bowl. Harry Acheson made the visitors familiar with the mysteries of the vault arrangement, leaving nothing unexplained except the combination. Old Glory was much in evidence, showing that the institution is genuinely American.

BUILDING

The new home is built of reinforced concrete. The size is 35x25 feet. The interior of the building is painted throughout. The color of the walls to half height is antique brown. The ceiling and the walls half way down are ivory cream tinted. Two large plate glass windows and two skylights furnish an abundance of light.

FIXTURES

The fixtures are of selected natural grain fir with stained oak dull finish. The paying and receiving tellers' windows are set with massive oxidized bronze grill work.

VAULT

One of the most interesting features of the institution is the vault which is of solid concrete, waterproofed and reinforced with steel. The vault equipment is the most improved and up-to-date obtainable. The outer door is of heavy solid steel with combination lock securing bolts. Next comes a heavy steel barred day gate. The inner door, like the outer door, is also of solid steel plate. Inside the vault there is a massive fire proof safe with a double combination. Alongside the safe are the safe deposit boxes which have the two key system. One key goes to the customer, the other remaining in the custody of the bank officer. Neither key will open the box alone, which assures absolute security for the contents of the box. The vault is a roomy affair. In addition to the space occupied by the mammoth safe and the safe deposit boxes there is still room enough to store several bushels of spuds.

The SENTINEL congratulates the Bank of Alaska upon having such an attractive new home, and upon the splendid progress it has made during the first year of its existence.

PUBLIC RECITAL

By Mabelle Parshall Burnet, Reader.

At the repeated requests of numerous friends who have been entertained again and again with Mrs. Burnet's reading, she has consented to give a whole evening of entertainment at the Redmen's hall Thursday evening, May 17. Her selections, to say nothing more, promise a delightful evening.

No American essayist has written more beautifully than Van Dyke. Riley is the pure, natural American poet that has helped to make American literature, the peer of any in the world; and O. Henry! when he is mentioned we sit back and prepare for the most delicious humor in the English language.

Added to all this, we have in Mrs. Burnet a reader who can be ranked as not only the most successful interpreter of pathos and humor in Alaska, but one, who without any exaggeration, can be ranked high among the readers of our country. Her entertainment therefore should be considered one of the events of the year.

The entertainment will be under the auspices and for the benefit of the Red Cross. The Red Cross needs money, more money, most money. There are field hospitals to be equipped, hospital ships to be furnished, and it must all be done quickly. Some of our own boys may need the Red Cross service when they go to the front.

Pack the house. The price of admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Following is the program:

1. An Abandoned Elopement Anon.
2. (a) Liz Town Humorist Riley (b) Romance of a Busy Broker O. Henry
3. The Lost Word Van Dyke
4. The Third Ingredient O. Henry
5. From a Far Country Anon.
6. Bud's Fairy Tale Riley

PROCLAMATION

BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas the maintenance of a food supply is absolutely essential to national preparedness; and

Whereas the people of this territory and the United States have cause for great concern, owing to the depletion of the food reserves of the world through crop shortages of last year, increased demands from the countries engaged in war, and the fact that there is little promise of abundant winter grain crops; and

Whereas, while Alaska is not strictly an agricultural country, still it is well known that our soil is capable of producing many kinds of fruits and vegetables, and especially potatoes may be raised in abundance;

And it is clearly recognized that the man who tills the soil and produces food for his family at home will thus aid in furnishing food for the soldier in the field by decreasing our importations of certain kinds of foodstuffs. A service may, in this way, be rendered as truly patriotic as that given by the men who bears the brunt of battle.

Therefore, in the present crisis a peculiar responsibility rests upon the farming population and citizens generally of this Territory, and there is imperative need that the people of Alaska shall fully realize the necessity for the largest possible produc-

INSTRUCTION IN PREPARING HERRING

Bureau of Fisheries Sending an Expert to Southeastern Alaska to Give Instruction, Especially by Scotch Method.

To assist in increasing the production of food stuffs the Bureau of Fisheries has obtained the services of Mr. A. H. D. Klie, an expert in the preparation of herring, particularly by the Scotch method, heretofore little known in this region. Mr. Klie will arrive in Southeastern Alaska within a few days to assist and instruct in these methods of preparing herring.

Those desiring information along these lines may call on, write or wire Mr. Ernest P. Walker, Inspector, U. S. Fisheries, Wrangell, Alaska, who will endeavor to arrange meetings between Mr. Klie and those interested and otherwise assist in disseminating the information.

tion of farm products during the present year, and every available plot of land should be utilized in the production of foodstuffs;

Now, therefore, I, J. F. A. Strong, Governor of the Territory of Alaska, do urge upon the farmers of Alaska, and the citizens of the respective towns, that they recognize this responsibility and their duty to safeguard the welfare of the Territory and the nation in this crisis and to plant ground and increase the volume of agricultural products and thus lessen the importation of such into the Territory. In this way the development of agriculture will be promoted and thrift increased in a way that will redound to the benefit of all the people.

Given under my hand and the Seal of the Territory of Alaska, in Juneau, the Capital, this second day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and forty-first.

(Sgd.) J. F. A. STRONG.
By the Governor:
Charles E. Davidson,
Ex officio Secretary of Alaska.

Presbyterian Church

The subject for the Friday evening Bible Study at the Presbyterian church is the fact that Jesus is coming back. He did not go away to remain, but to return. "If I go away I will come again." He was here once, that is His first appearing in heaven for us, and He is to appear again on the earth. — Hebrews 9.

For the Sunday service, the subject is, "Yes, Jesus is coming back to earth. How readest thou? What does His coming again mean and why is His coming?" "He was here and no doubt will come again." Come study this subject with us and you will be interested in the eternal things.

Al-ki and Despatch Change Owners

Seattle, May 4.—The sale of the Border Line Transportation Company's steamers Al-ki and Despatch was verbally completed in this city last night. The new owners of the steamers, who are to take immediate possession, are W. C. Dawson and several Alaska cannery men. The vessel will be kept on the same run and all traffic contracts will be assumed.

THE DRY STRAITS CHANNEL

General Black, chief engineer of the War Department, has decided that the dredging of Dry Straits is feasible. This should silence the doubters and pessimists who have repeatedly claimed that it could not be done without an expenditure of fabulous sums of money, and that they would not stay dredged after the work was once done.

It remains now for Alaskans to keep on reiterating the great necessity for the work. Every ship now going to Alaska is loaded almost to the water's edge with freight. There is business for more ships in Alaska by far, than Alaska has, and it is only a question of time when the commerce of Alaska will be multiplied many fold.

At present ships going north and south are delayed many hours by being compelled to wait for the tide at Wrangell Narrows. It costs from $300 to $800 a day to run ship. It is easy to see what a great loss this delay is to shipping, and this all has to come out of the man who pays the freight. This holds back development work in Alaska. Also, large ships, as it is now, must practically all go outside. The water in Wrangell Narrows, even at high tide, is not deep enough. This makes freighting still more expensive, as this takes upwards of 20 hours longer to make the trip.

Wrangell Narrows is a great place for fogs to settle in, especially in the fall when Alaska is sending out all of its fish. Fogs will hang there when in other places it is clear. When the fogs come there the ship must stop. Sailing by time and the chart is impossible there because the channel is so narrow.

So we see what a great commercial necessity the Straits are, but this is not all, Alaska would be a great prize for a nation in time of war. It has its gold, its copper, and its coal. There might be a time when it would be absolutely necessary for defense, to send large ships up through the inside channel. This could only easily and successfully be done by making Dry Straits a channel deep enough at all tides for large ships. So Dry Straits is both a commercial, and military necessity.

Quality of America Has Been Shown by Supreme Test of Civilization

By SHANE LESLIE, British Recruiting Staff

COUNT TOLSTOY told me six years ago, when he was staggering to the grave, that patriotism was the sin denounced in the gospels. Now I am beginning to see what he meant. Only a patriotism of defense is defensible. THERE IS A JUSTICE HIGHER THAN VICTORY AND A MORAL ISSUE OUTWEIGHING ALL BOUNDARIES.

For America to make the war a draw instead of a knockout would no doubt promote the peace of the world. Because Grant halted before Richmond and refused to triumph over the south you are the United States of America.

As a country of living men America's role must be judicial and peacemaking. Ghosts bring not peace, but patriotism, which is a halo shed from those who have tried to die for their country.

I believe that America could be trusted with the biggest army in the world. You have shown this by the supreme test of civilization, your behavior in countries that do not belong to you, such as Cuba and China. It is said that there will be no national flags in heaven. But in one of your military academies hangs a Chinese flag given by a Chinaman in recognition of the humanity of American troops.

THAT FLAG, THE GREATEST TROPHY EVER WON BY AN ARMY YOU CAN TAKE WITH YOU TO THE NEXT WORLD.

Americans Should Have a Better Understanding of Mexican Character

By Professor IRVING FISHER, Yale University

WE Americans think of the Mexican problem as simply one of restoring order. It is that, but it is much more. It is also and chiefly a problem of determining whether the new order shall be one of justice or one of injustice like that of Diaz.

One thing is clear. We are in danger of repeating the wretched cycle which we find in the history of our treatment of the Indians—namely, the cycle of good intentions by the mass of our people, exploitation by the few, indiscriminate resentment against us all by those whom that few have injured, GROWING SUSPICION, FOLLOWED BY LAWLESS RETALIATION AND BLOODSHED, AND FINALLY WAR AND EXTERMINATION.

To prevent such results it is quite as important that we Americans should understand the Mexicans and their wrongs as that the Mexicans should understand Americans and our wrongs. In spite of all the ill we hear of the Mexican character, those who know the country intimately, like Edgar Hewitt, the archaeologist, believe that the best of the Mexicans, including the best and uncontaminated of the Mexican Indians, have high and noble qualities AND THAT IT WOULD BE A DISTINCT AND IRREPARABLE LOSS TO THE HUMAN RACE TO HAVE THEM EITHER EXTERMINATED OR DETERIORATED THROUGH OPPRESSION.

Nations of Europe Should Observe the Law of Good WillBy Dr. JAMES A. MACDONALD,
Editor of the Toronto Globe

JUST as truly as it is impossible to break the law of gravitation, it is IMPOSSIBLE TO ESCAPE THE LAW OF GOOD WILL.

As soon as an individual or a nation tries to break the law of good will that individual or nation suffers just in the same way a man suffers the results of ignoring the law of gravitation when he steps off the window ledge of a building.

The United States and Canada have observed the law of good will in their mutual relations for more than one hundred years.

The example of the American conditions in this respect is well worth the consideration of the nations of Europe.

THERE IS NO REASON WHY THEY SHOULD NOT OBSERVE THE LAW JUST AS HAS BEEN DONE IN AMERICA.

HER LAST PROPHECY

"There Will Be No Germany"

Madame de Thebes, the celebrated French clairvoyant, has just died in her 72nd year. Among other things, she prophesied that the year 1916 would be a "hazy year," meaning that nothing decisive would happen, and that the Emperor of Austria would die.

Interviewed by a representative of the "Petit Parisien" shortly before her death, she was asked when the war would end? She replied:

"Unless the enemy Powers collapse suddenly through economic strain, famine, and misery, the war should end in the last days of the spring or the beginning of the summer of 1917. The victor will be the Entente—that is certain. The end will mark the triumph of justice and right. The victory of the Allies will be almost complete. I mean by that that it will be slightly different from the kind of victory reckoned upon to-day, but it will remain solid and definite, and will ensure the happiness and liberties of the peoples. There will be no Germany, as such, but instead a number of little Germanies. The Hohenzollerns will disappear. The sinister bandit chief will have vanished or, in the hour of defeat will be lying unconscious. His days are numbered, and he knows it. His family will be destroyed, and the high Prussian caste will perish by suicide, assassination, and ruin, as a result of its insatiable appetite for crime."—Glasgow Weekly Herald.

Few realize how RUST threatened the extinction of "Steel Ranges." Sheet metal, steel or iron is the ideal material for range bodies and ovens. But RUST would destroy it. Rust that worked from the inside not outside.

So there the MONARCH built its defence—of VITREOUS ENAMEL, a material you know from every day household experience is not effected by Rust. Every inch of the MONARCH'S flues is covered with this non-rusting protection.

You can enjoy the satisfaction of cooking on a MONARCH Range year in and year out. No danger of breakdown—no danger of rusting out, just continued satisfactory service. We don't know for how long! But from the looks of this splendid Range we'd guess a life time.

SOLICITS AID FOR BELGIAN CHILDREN

One Dollar Will Feed a Child for a Month.

At the meeting of the town council Thursday night a communication was read from Governor Strong in which he urged the organization in Wrangell of a local committee which would solicit contributions for the Rocky Mountain Club—Hoover fund, for the relief of Belgian children.

Owing to the present activity in Wrangell in forming several new organizations it was not deemed wise to undertake to organize a committee to take up this work. However, the Wrangell Sentinel was requested to publish the Governor's letter, and advise the public that any one wishing to contribute to this most worthy cause is invited to leave his donation with Mayor Matheson who will receipt therefor and forward to the treasurer of the Rocky Mountain Club—Hoover fund, at New York.

A portion of the Governor's letter follows:

Juneau, April 27, 1917.

My Dear Mr. Mayor:

I have been requested by the directors of the Rocky Mountain Club—Hoover Fund for Relief in Belgium to use my efforts as far as possible in securing subscriptions for the relief of the stricken people of Belgium. Mr. Herbert C. Hoover, as you know, has been in charge of this fund ever since 1914 and he advises that the sum guaranteed for the relief of Belgium failed to meet the requirements by one million dollars monthlp, which sum it is believed can be raised in the United States, and now Alaska is urged to contribute her share.

Hitherto we, the most prosperous people in the world, have fallen far short of the example set by other countries, even those staggering under the burden of such a war, America has given no dollars and 8 cents per capita against no dollars and 18 cents in Canada, $2.34 in New Zealand and $6.25 in Tasmania. According to Mr. Hoover, a million little Belgian children are weak, tubercular and under-nourished, and the million dollars a month for which he pleads, will be applied toward supplying one supplementary nourishing meal a day for these children.

The Rocky Mountain Club, as you may know, is a New York club composed mainly of and for western mining men and others who may be visiting New York. I may add that John Hays Hammond, the eminent mining engineer, is President of the Rocky Mountain Club, which has a number of members in Alaska, I myself being an honorary vice president. Mr. Hoover was a prominent member of this Club, and the Club, therefore believed it its duty to assist him in the work of increasing the American contributions for Belgian relief, as it was believed that it is peculiarly the task of the mining profession—a task, by the way, initiated and hitherto largely administered by mining engineers, and for this reason as well as because no industry has profited more by the war than mining, it is urged that it is incumbent on the mining profession and the mining sections of the Territory to give whole-hearted support to this

St. Philip's Church

There was a fair congregation at St. Philip's church Sunday evening last. The theme was "The value of being alone." Next Sunday evening the lecture will emphasize the opposite side of what makes a successful man and will have for its theme "Man and the Crowd." The thought will divide itself into four heads, namely, Man and his home, Man and the community (social service), Man and his country (patriotism), Man and the world. There is in preparation another patriotic service to come the Sunday before Memorial Day. This will be followed by a series of lectures entitled, Decisive periods of American History.
